1 INTRODUCTION

Politeness can be said to be a genuine desire to do good to others (Thomas, 1995). A sincere desire can take a verbal action, i.e., use of language, or nonverbal actions, i.e. behavior daily. It is one of the important variables in speech events. When speaking or speech, politeness into consideration in selecting the first linguistic forms in addition to clarity of intention. Moreover, clarity and politeness are two important aspects to be considered in verbal communication (Lakoff & Ide, 2005).

However, sometimes two aspects of the above contradiction so both partners can understand that speech. Speakers often consider the pragmatic factors thoroughly may be involved in the communication process, such as the speakers will use a variety of different said by the situation said. Politeness is one of the objects of study of pragmatics, according to Leech (1993) States the pragmatics, in General, relate to the meaning or grammatical meaning of a speech with the speech pragmatics. This link can be relatively direct or indirect. Language politeness based on the opinion that it can serve as a benchmark level of politeness of a person to a partner he said. A message containing the meaning there in need to be consideration of approval and rejection is defined by the partners said.

According to Anam (2012) politeness is one aspect that needs to be considered in communication. Compassion or not speech is very dependent on the size of the politeness of the speakers of the language used. Speech in Indonesian, in general, has been stated politely if speakers use polite words, namely: the speech does not ridicule directly, indirectly, and others.

There are many ethics, manners, and courtesy in the community that is known and adhered to. One of the references we can exemplify the procedures for speaking in Minangkabau. Minangkabau language has four oral parts which are commonly called narrative bases. This variety of calls is called kato nan ampek. Kato nan ampek or what is called Navis (1989) langgam kato is the everyday way of talking between fellow Minangkabau people according to the social status of the speaker. It is essential to understand the concept of kato nan ampek in Minangkabau. Wisdom and intelligence of someone choosing and sorting out the language that will be used by the concepts of kato nan ampek become a measure of one's maturity, wisdom, and maturity.

Kato nan ampek consists of four parts, each of which is based more on social status and speech participants' relationships (Oktavianus & Revita, 2013; Aslinda, 2000; Navis, 1999).

The use of speech based on kato nan ampek is in line with politeness (Oktavianus & Revita, 2013; Navis, 1999). Speakers who can fulfill the conditions that are written in kato nan ampek are categorized as people who know about kato nan ampek and polite understanding. Therefore, wherever you are here, it is very important to pay attention to and prioritize this politeness aspect.

Workplaces are offices, banks, schools, the government of offices and others. One place to act is a government of Padang city. The government of Padang city is led by a Mayor, who is democratically elected based on the 1945 Constitution. To support the smooth running of all Mayor activities, the Mayor is assisted by mayor group employee. A Mayor's group consisted of 7 people who were commanded by a Mayor's Personal Secretary.

The duties and authorities of the mayor's group are:
1. Serve all guests who will meet with the Mayor.
2. Receive all incoming documents or documents to get the Mayor's disposition or signature and record it in the agenda book.
3. Receive letters that have been disposition or signed by Mayor and distribute to the administration of Regional Secretary letter or administration of Secretariat's letter.
4. Arranging Mayor's activity agenda and making official notes for needs of Mayor's activities.

All tasks and authority of the mayor's group, all interact, both interactions occur between an employee of fellow employee and interaction between employee and the guests.

The interaction that occurs in the government of Padang city is the interaction between the employee and the guests and employee language politeness when serving guests at the government of Padang city. An employee is a group of people who assist / services to guests in the government of Padang city, meaning that Mayor group employee is people who interact directly with guests as one of the most critical spearheads for a government office in building guest satisfaction.

A guest is someone or an institution/organization that has needs in the form of official needs or personal needs in a government. It is the primary basis that an employee must be able to be ethical in language, especially when interacting with guests at the government of Padang city.

One type of politeness is politeness when asking. Following is one of the speech models requesting in Minangkabau language spoken by employees and guests at the government of Padang city.

The Guest : Eeei lamak kue ko bantuaknyo mah Uni.
   ‘This cake looks delicious.’
Employee : Kok lai suko ambiak lah. Pado mubazir xe.
   ‘Take it, if you like it. Than just redundant.’
The Guest : MokasUni
   ‘Thank You’

The above discussion occurs between guests and Employee. The Guests declare that a cake is delicious. Based on the context, besides expressing something, the utterance contains a literal meaning to ask. It is just that, due to various pragmatic considerations, guests do not express their requests frankly.

In politeness studies, there are several topics, such as politeness strategies, types of politeness, politeness principles, politeness markers, modesty rules, politeness scale, and facial tone. A possible problem in this study is to find the types of information found in interactions with people who use oral speech guests government.

Furthermore, the advanced technique used is non-participant observational technique. Researcher uses the the recording to note speech politeness language uttered by the employee transcribed. Based on the above explanation, the application of methods and techniques of analysis can be described or described in several stages. The stages in question are as follows:

a. The researcher first provides preliminary exposure on each subtopic analysis of research data. The introduction is a general overview of the theories used to analyze data.

b. Data is transcribed by researchers from spoken language into written language.
